ABOUT MYSELF

I am an internationally oriented and ambitious postgraduate student currently pursuing an MSc in International Business Management at GISMA University of Applied Sciences, Potsdam Campus Berlin. With a solid academic background in Commerce and over 2 years of hands-on experience in management and business operations, I bring a strong understanding of global business dynamics and strategic decision-making.

My strengths lie in business analytics, financial planning, and cross-functional leadership. I am passionate about working in multicultural environments and thrive in fast-paced, innovation-driven settings. My goal is to contribute to sustainable business development, digital transformation, and data-driven growth strategies within Europe and beyond. I am currently enhancing my German language skills and open to professional opportunities that align with international business strategy and analytics.
